

I pay to subscribe to XM satellite radio because the quality of the usual AM/FM stations is very poor. The AM/FM stations are overrun advertising and nonstop chatter from the disc jockeys. XM offers me quality, commercial free listening with a wide choice of music. I should be able to rely on the XM stations for news, weather and traffic if I choose. It is a subscription I gladly pay for. To me it is like paying extra for quality cable stations who are able to offer premium programming.
